

Bereavement Care Awareness

Churches have told us that they can sometimes struggle to support bereaved people because of a lack of information, resources and training. In response to this, we've developed Bereavement Care Awareness, a special one-day seminar to help churches equip leaders and pastoral workers.

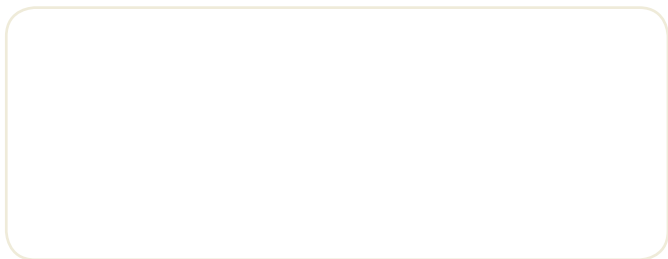

The course is delivered by trained facilitators and will help you and your church better understand the needs of bereaved people and how you can support them.

You can find more details about the course at

Bereavement Care Awareness will be taking place in your area soon.

If you're interested, or think your church might be interested, please contact the organiser for more details:

“I thoroughly recommend the help, information and training that is available from Care for the Family.”
